I am currently pursuing my Masters in Computer Science in University of Central Missouri with an overall GPA of 3.83 on scale of 4. My understanding of software development, programming, and project management have been developed through professional internships. As a result, I am adept at problem-solving, working effectively with a development team, and innovating to create unique software applications. I have the right skill set and mindset to tackle the daily challenges of software engineering, and I am confident that I can deliver as a Software Engineer in your esteemed company.

I am eager to demonstrate my ability to develop effective strategies for achieving project goals, as well as execute tasks efficiently and accurately in a timely manner. I possess excellent communication skills which enable me to collaborate with colleagues effortlessly. Additionally, my problem-solving, teamwork, and innovation skills can be used to bring value and expertise to the organization.

Previously, in my internship at Amazon as SDE role, I exercised a calculated and methodical approach to problem solving. Should you have any questions, or would like to discuss my candidacy further, I am available for telephone or online interviews at your earliest convenience. I thank you kindly for your time and consideration and look forward to hearing from you soon!

Sincerely,

Nikhil Reddy Musku
